Student Engagement Hours: 200
Seminars: 39
Tutorials: 6
Independent / Guided Learning: 155

Semester: FALL

Credits: 20 UK CATS credits

10 ECTS credits 4 US credits

Course Description:

Aims to give students an understanding of the structure of arts policy in the UK and the USA, as well as on an international level. The course will explore the history of the Department for Culture, Media and Sport (DCMS), the Arts Council and the British Council, in the UK and the National Endowment for the Arts in the USA, making comparisons between the two. Students will be asked to critically engage with different political agendas and how they have impacted arts organisations and the creative industries. Current debate around the instrumentalisation of the arts as social and economic processes will be discussed, alongside questions about how the value of art to society can be evaluated and measured – questions which are central to public policy formation.

Pre-requisites and/or Co-requisites: MA Visual Arts Management and Curating students only

Aims and Objectives:

- To introduce students to arts policy from an intercultural perspective
- To explore the funding structure for arts and culture in the UK
- To examine the funding structure for arts and culture in the US, Europe and around the world
- To analyse the value of culture, as set out in cultural policy

- To consider different methodologies for measuring and assessing the impact of arts and culture
- To examine the relationships between arts policy and social, economic and educative agendas

Teaching Methodology:

SEMINARS

The course will consist of weekly postgraduate seminars, which will follow the structure set out within the course syllabus and will serve a number of functions: seminars provide a framework for the course; address critically the relevant literature in specific areas, examine concepts, theories and case studies, and enable students to engage in group discussion and dialogue, and autonomous learning. Seminars rely upon active student participation, mediated by the course instructor. By examining and discussing issues and problems in a seminar setting, students as junior research colleagues will be able to learn from each other and resolve questions that arise in the course of the lectures and readings. Seminars will only be useful to the extent that they are prepared for and participation in discussions and debates is an essential aspect of this. All students will be required to participate. Tutorial opportunities will also be available for research supervision and other academic support.
