Course Description:

This course is designed to develop the student's ability to take leadership responsibility in a business environment. Students will learn to critically reflect and apply leadership theories. They will understand how leadership development has become a global business and which are the key stakeholders. Methods including action learning as well as peer feedback will raise self-awareness and foster students' personal and professional development.

Prerequisites:

N/A

Aims and Objectives:

The aim of this course is to support students' acquiring a leadership style which is appropriate for a leader in the 21st century. Concepts such as authentic leadership, responsible leadership, and emotional intelligence are critically reflected upon, and the students are enabled to practise communication, listening, and coaching skills which are essential for sustainable leadership. A critical reflection of the role and practice of leadership will help students develop a personal and professional leader identity.
