Course Description:

This course provides historical and theoretical contexts to Shakespeare's plays and approaches them with a variety of different critical methods. Shakespeare in performance is an integral part of the course and students are expected to see productions of most texts studied. An additional fee is required for outside trips.

(Students may take both Shakespeare and His World I and II as the plays studied differ every semester.)

Prerequisites:

GEP 4180
Open to visiting students only

Aims and Objectives:

The course aims to develop transferable skills which include:

- reading closely for nuance and appreciating how language and form impact the production of meaning
- engaging critically with both primary and secondary texts to develop informed opinions and make incisive interpretations

- writing carefully and clearly to present persuasive critical arguments that demonstrate good critical thinking skills
- the ability to research purposefully, quote cogently and engage with critical arguments
- the ability to keep multiple contexts in mind when discussing the text and understanding how these contexts affect the production of meaning

Programme Outcomes:

5A(i), 5A(iii), 5B(i), 5B(iv), 5C(i), 5C(ii), 5D(ii)

A detailed list of the programme outcomes are found in the Programme Specification. This is found at: <https://www.richmond.ac.uk/programme-and-course-specifications/>

Learning Outcomes:

By the end of this course, successful students should be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of cultural and political contexts of the plays discussed, and show evidence of wider reading.
- Articulate ideas that identify, analyse and communicate principles and concepts of the Shakespeare plays discussed, while considering competing points of view.
- Undertake research to demonstrate detailed knowledge of theories and concepts in Shakespeare studies as applied to the plays discussed.

Indicative Content:

- Introduction to complex field of Shakespeare studies
- In-depth study of 4-5 key Shakespeare plays, including comedies, histories and tragedies (Each semester the chosen plays are based on productions currently on in London and at the Royal Shakespeare Theatre in Stratford)
